Success Coach!

Mr. Marcus Early will be the Success Coach for first quarter students in the Learning Support courses. His office will be in A240—drop by and see him! Specifically, what he will do for students will be to:

- ◇ work to ensure the successful transition of students from learning support courses to occupational courses.
- ◇ build relationships with students and help them make the support connections they need to be successful, while upholding academic integrity.
- ◇ work to ensure that all students identified in need of additional support will be guided toward the path of course, certificate, diploma, or degree completion by developing and implementing individual and small group intervention and prevention strategies to provide for goal establishment and increase persistence in learning.
- ◇ hold periodic, open communication meetings with assigned students for monitoring of academic progress, classroom assistance, and/or personal mentoring, intervening when appropriate.

REMEMBER:

The QEP is “a carefully designed and focused course of action that addresses a well-defined issue or issues directly related to improving student learning.”

What has the QEP Planning Team been doing?

We have been finishing the QEP document! It is under review now by the Onsite Review Team from SACS who will visit the campus October 27-29. We will continue implementing parts of the QEP and developing how we will assess its impact and success.

Math Lab!

You might have noticed construction in A229 over the past couple weeks. This work is a part of the Survivor Math program in the QEP. This room will be a paradise for math learning! Students will be grouped by related programs and will receive very individualized instruction from the teacher. The latest in technology will be a part of teaching in the lab—three projectors, screen capture capability, sliding whiteboards—resulting in a very student-centered environment!
